DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the parentage of the application does not appear on the first page immediately after the title. MPEP 1893.93(c). Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 15, 16, 27 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by applicant's own admission in the specification (page 10, line 24) that these compounds are known.

Claims 15, 16, 27 and 28 are product-by-process claims and even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process. In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985) MPEP 2112.02.

Art Unit: 1621

Claim 29 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by The Merck Index 12th ed. (1996), p. 1029, entry no. 6095.

As above, the claim is a product-by-process claim. Primary amines, in their almost infinite variety, are old and well-known compounds, as evidenced by The Merck Index, which teaches, for example, methylamine.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-14 and 17-26 are allowed. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The closest prior art appears to be Tetrahedron: Asymmetry (1996), 7(6), p. 1621-1630, cited by applicant in the IDS, which teaches a related synthesis using compounds structurally related to those of the instant invention (page 1623, Scheme 1). The synthesis is not that of the instant invention. Among many differences is the fact that the prior art synthesis does not utilize a heterocyclic quaternary compound as does the instant invention.

The cited prior art neither teaches nor suggests the instant process. Nor would it have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the process of the prior art in order to arrive at that of the instant invention. There is no motivation to do so.
